
The Titanic is a 1997 American epic romance-disaster film directed, written, co-produced, and co-edited by James Cameron. A fictionalized account of the sinking of the RMS Titanic, it stars Leonardo DiCaprio as Jack Dawson, Kate Winslet as Rose DeWitt Bukater and Billy Zane as Rose's fiancé Cal Hockley. A three time nominee for Academy Awards© for Best Picture of the Year (1997), Best Director of the Year (1997), and Editing of the Year (1997) "Titanic" went on to gross over US$2 billion world wide. An enormous commercial success, it was the first film to gross $1 billion worldwide and remains the highest grossing film of all time, as well as the most successful film of all time. The film is also notable for being the first one since "The Birth of a Nation" (1915) to be nominated and win Oscars© for Best Picture and Best Director without winning for acting or original screenplay. Rose DeWitt Bukater tells her secret engagement to Cal Hockley that she is bearing his child and they decide to go to Cal's mother with their news. However, Rose's father discovers this plan and confronts Rose as she prepares to board the ship at Cherbourg with Jack Dawson. He angrily tells her to forget Jack and come home, but Jack manages to persuade him to let them go. As the ship departs, Jack is approached by two suspicious men named Briggs and Rose's first officer, Stanley. The pair profess that they were only trying to help the passengers embark faster and ask for a few of the passengers' lifeboats. Jack guesses that they would like a few extra for themselves and refuses. To the crew's disbelief, Rose agrees with his decision without question, prompting Stanley to note that she seems different. The Titanic hits an iceberg and the ship starts to sink. Jack helps Rose onto a collapsible boat, but when Cal realizes that Rose might survive after all, he forces her into the first available lifeboat with him. As the ship sinks beneath the ocean surface, Jack is rescued by a nearby lifeboat, along with his friend Fabrizio De Rossi. They are picked up by RMS Carpathia two days later. Upon arrival in New York City, Jack is interrogated by a police officer named James Frazier for stealing one of "his" staterooms on the ship, but manages to persuade him that he earned his ticket fair and square. Baird Meredith, the Carpathia's chief purser, introduces Jack to the ship's captain, George Sylvester. Sylvester reveals that Cal is actually safe and well, but questions how it happened. Jack explains Rose's secret engagement to Cal's mother Ida in an attempt to keep her identity a secret. The next day, Rose is brought to New York by her mother who claims that she was abandoned by her fiancé. Jack escapes from his house and visits a newspaper office with Mrs. DeWitt and Cal where he signs up for a Titanic survivor's benefits package and receives the $500 bounty he seeks due to his survival of the shipwreck and rescue by Carpathia.
