While about 74% of users of Artha: Word Search Automated Anagram Generator come from the United States, it is also popular in Germany and Brazil. Hereditary spherocytosis. Hereditary spherocytosis (HS) is a heterogeneous inherited disease of red blood cell (RBC) membranes and is the most common form of inherited hemolytic anemia. HS is characterized by macrocytic RBCs with increased intracellular hemoglobin content and increased free RBC membrane surface area. The distribution of this increased membrane surface area is heterogeneous; in part it is explained by the presence of rare, membrane-disruptive alleles of the genes encoding the alpha(1)- and beta-globin chains of hemoglobin. Inherited RBC membrane defects can be broadly divided into primary and secondary forms of HS. Primary HS is a primary defect of RBCs membrane without genetic or acquired etiology. In contrast, secondary HS can arise as the result of an acquired or inherited disease of the erythroid cell or RBC. A large proportion of patients with primary HS have mutations in the genes encoding band 3 (anion exchanger 1) and spectrin (red
