In my server, I have a web api that asp.net core calls to handle the request. I want the server to always return the response in the same locale. I tried setting the CurrentCulture and CurrentUICulture in the GlobalConfiguration. But it looks like it is getting the wrong one. What do I have to do to make sure that the server always returns the request in the same locale? I'm using asp.net core 2.1. A: I found it. I needed to have this in the OnConfiguration method in my Startup: // Configure the authentication options (or add your own) app.UseAuthentication(); // Add your authorization options (or add your own) app.UseAuthorization(); // Add your application options (or add your own) app.Use(async (context, next) => { context.Response.Headers.Add("Culture", CultureInfo.CurrentCulture.Name); await next(); }); [Fluoroquinolone-induced asymmetrical deafness].
