This filter is a wrapper for the KEYMACRO. It adds some additional functions for DirectShow application. The filter provides a message which will be shown to user when Windows application crashes. When the filter receives a message it passes the messages to our application which is hosted in our application DLL. This filter supports version 6 of ASIO. There are two C++ example projects, one for sample and one for COM. ASIO Sample - This sample uses IAudioMapper to get the waveform information from ASIO audio renderer. You can try it by using sample. ASIO COM - This example uses COM interface to get the waveform information from ASIO audio renderer. Appendices: ASIO SDK docs - Where you can get ASIO SDK from (please download the latest version) WinMapper docs - A wrapper for WinMapper audio renderer. Readme.txt - A sample to use the filter and get the waveform. On the main page, you will find "Configure" tab. On the "Configure" tab, you will find "License" tab. Here, you can select your license for application. For any question about this filter, you can ask them here. The spinet singer/violinist, singer, pianist, arranger and composer recorded in his spare time, bringing you this recording of eleven original compositions which range from sweet and light melodies to classical tracks, some his own compositions and others by various composers. His songs feature a quiet and wistful blend of folk-music and classical music, for him the best of both worlds. G.
