Urdu Reader (X1) is an all-in-one text reader and editor, designed to be a document reader so it will likely confuse you a bit when you first open it as it looks very much like a text editor, although for that you have Urdu Editor. As the name suggests, Urdu Reader is designed for Urdu texts so it is unlikely that you will use this specific app for other languages. Intuitive interface Urdu Reader is meant to be a document reader so it might confuse you a bit when you first open it as it looks very much like a text editor, although for that you have Urdu Editor. The similarities reside in the fact that Urdu Reader displays the same classic interface you expect from a basic text editor, or so would the top toolbar suggest. From a top pane you can load files, zoom in, change alignment, emboss text or switch it to Italic style, enlarge or reduce its size, as well as change the color. You can also print a loaded document and search for specific text inside. Basically, Urdu Reader enables you to do everything a simple editor can, except add or remove content. Grab Urdu text from a document Using Urdu Reader you can't write material but you can select as much as you want and copy it to Clipboard and from there to an application that allows you to edit it. Since you are able to resize text, color it differently and more, if the third party text editor supports it, what you copy from Urdu Reader maintains its properties. This way, if you simply added some color annotations and changed the alignment of the text, that will be visible when you place it into the editor. A practical Urdu reader To wrap it up,
