social dimension of headaches: a critical review of the literature]. The aim of this paper is to take stock of the existing literature on the social dimension of headaches. We will then define the issue, and examine the issue according to the classical definition of social sciences, and then introduce the concept of social dimensions, and illustrate this with a particular case. In the last part, we will look at the impact of the social dimension on the diagnosis and the treatment of headaches. It will be shown that the social dimension is still rarely explored by the headache specialist.A

The incident happened early this morning at the hotel, located at 5820 Napa Dr. Casino surveillance video shows a man in a hooded jacket pacing the hotel's floor before jumping over the balcony railing. The man hits the ground and is caught on camera at the bottom of the stairs. Police are working to identify the suspect, the only person seen with him. He also isn't wearing a hood, and police say he isn't cooperating. Anyone with any information is asked to call the San Francisco Police Department at 415-575-4444. ISD 488, which is pending in the Assembly but would have to pass the Senate, would drop the traditional requirement that any students who choose to attend a private school must live within the school's attendance boundaries. Officials said that if parents chose to send their children to a private school, they would no longer be charged the zone expense; instead, they would have to pay for the one-mile shuttle service that runs between the boundary and the school or, to send private school children to a public school, they could apply for a free bus pass. But critics say the bill runs contrary to the mission of public education, which is to educate all of its students regardless of their ZIP code. They have suggested that the bill encourages an influx of students into the state's private schools, and argue that it's unfair to require those students to pay for transportation services that are not available to them. A study released earlier this year by Education Week magazine found that there are nearly 1,000 private schools in New York and that about half of them are extremely small. In addition, private school

---

The long

term goal of this Center is to establish a multidisciplinary research team that will create a new area of research in the area of targeted anti-cancer therapies, which will serve as a national resource for the biomedical research community.

This application is a renewal of the Center's second cycle of funding (years 1-5), which has led to the development of a productive research team with 4 new faculty hires (30% of total COBRE Phase II faculty hires) including 2 junior investigators and 2 new group leaders. The Center has forged new collaborative relationships with other investigators in the state and in-state and with researchers from neighboring institutions (8 outside of East Tennessee). The COBRE Phase II leaders' productivity have led to over $3M in sponsored funding and numerous publications, which have also garnered multiple high profile research awards. In this renewal, the Phase II COBRE will continue to build on our success and create a robust research team to continue to define, generate, and then test new targeted anti-cancer therapies.

In this application, we have four key components: 1) Development of a state-of-the-art research facility (Aslan Bioscience, Inc.) to foster the environment required for targeted anti-cancer therapies; 2) Development of an interdisciplinary training program to develop an interdisciplinary
